Survey Information Sheet

Dear Student,

The research is part of a project called TechMate, focusing on the gender imbalance in computing higher education. You can learn more about TechMate here - <https://ascnet.ie/techmate/about/>. The research is being carried out by Alina Berry alina.berry@mytudublin.ie, under the supervision of Prof. Sarah Jane Delany sarahjane.delany@tudublin.ie as part of the School of CS at TU Dublin. Please contact us if you want to find out what happens with this project.

What is this research about?

The aim of this research is to get a richer view on students' experience of personalised feedback. By responding to this survey you will provide data that will help assessing if and how personalised feedback benefits students.

Why have you been invited to take part?

You have been invited to take part in this study because you are a computing student at TU Dublin, attending a class where personalised feedback for assessment is provided.

How will your data be used?

The data will be used to understand if and how TU Dublin students, benefit from feedback received in their computing classes. The data will be subjected to statistical analysis. Your data will only be used as part of this study and there will not be any third-party transfer of the data.

What will happen if you decide to take part in this research study?

If you decide to take part in this survey, your name will not be collected. The responses will be stored in a password-protected file on the researcher's computer, which is also password protected. The data will be shared with the researcher's supervisor, Prof Sarah Jane Delany. At the end of the survey, we may ask you for your email address if you are willing to participate in an interview to help us learn more about your experiences with personalised feedback. If you provide it, your email will be stored separately from your survey responses to ensure anonymity. After we reach out to you, your email address will be deleted. Your data will be processed in agreement with the General Data Protection Regulation 2018.

What are the benefits of taking part in this research study?

There are no direct benefits to you for taking part in this research. However, future students and wider society will hopefully benefit from you taking part in this research.

What are the risks of taking part in this research study?

There are no risks in taking part in this study.

Can you change your mind and withdraw at any point?

Participation in this research is voluntary. If you decide to participate, you can change your mind and withdraw at any point during the survey before you click submit - your data will not be used or saved. There is no penalty for not taking part or withdrawing at any point during the survey. After the survey is submitted as your data is anonymised, we will no longer be able to remove your data.

Consent Form

If you would like to participate, please complete this section.

DECLARATION

I have read the information sheet (previous page) and have had time to consider whether to take part in this study. I understand that my participation is voluntary (it is my choice) and that I am free to withdraw from the research at any time without disadvantage or penalty. I confirm that I agree to take part in this research.

I agree that the data arising from this research can be used in the publication of scientific research papers, and that I will not be identified in any way.

If you have any questions about this research, please contact me at alina.berry@mytudublin.ie or the principal investigator of this research at sarahjane.delany@tudublin.ie.

Thank you for taking part in this survey.

We would like to learn more about your experiences with assessment. If you are happy to tell us more in a short interview, we will request your email address so that we can contact you to arrange that. By providing your email address, you will share personal information about yourself (your email address). In order to collect this information from you, we require your consent. If you choose not to provide your consent, you will not be asked for this information.

Your survey responses will remain anonymous even if you submit your email address, as your email address is not stored with your responses to the survey.

Do you consent to us collecting your email address for the purpose of learning more about your experience with personalised feedback in this module? *

- Yes (final question will follow).
- No (end of survey).
